Annual Meeting Of S. D. No. 40

The electors and ratemakers of the Champion Consolidated School District No. 40 held their annual meeting in the school
Saturday afternoon, January 29. A good crowd was in attendance and F. W. Fleming acted as chairman.

Financial report for the past year was read and showed a cash surplus of $5720.24.

Nominations for two trustees were called and Louis Fath was re-elected by acclamation as trustee representing the Sherwood S. D. No. 1705, for the Champion Consolidated S. D.

Fred Fleming was elected by acclamation to represent Harvard S. D. No. 1546.

A vote of thanks was tendered L. Warren, the retiring trustee.

All reports read were adopted.

RADIO LICENSE FEES

In an article which appears in the current issue of Queen's Quarterly there appears a listing of annual fees paid to governments by radio receiving set owners in a number of countries.
We feel that the list, which follows, will be of interest to our readers.

Germany $9.00, New Zealand
$7.50, Australia $6.00, Italy $6.50 South Africa $5.00/$6.00, Norway $5.00, Denmark $3.40, Sweden $2.50, Canada $2.00.

The Sir John Aird Commission, which investigated the Canadian radio situation several years ago, recommended a Canadian annual license fee of three dollars.

Carlson—Cool

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. J. A. Carlson, at 2 p. m., Monday, January 31st, when Le Etta Mays
Cool, oldest daughter of Mrs. T.
Powell of Champion, became the bride of Norman Alfred Carlson, second son of Mrs. J. A.
Carlson of Champion, Rev.
Peter Dawson officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Carlson, while the groom was supported by Mr. Dallas Speery of Vaicon.

A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony.

After a short honeymoon, to be spent in Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Carlson will reside at their farm home north east of Champion.

A dust storm followed by a snow storm struck this district last Thursday evening, bringing to an end a month of almost perfect weather. The tempera-registering 28 below zero.

Sunday the temperature rose and zero weather again prevailed. Many of the rural roads were drifted due to the high wind which accompanied the storm.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. STRANGE,
Searle Grain Company, Limited

There has recently occurred a desire slump in the prices of stocks, shares and commodities in the United States. This has had its effect upon prices in Canada, including that of wheat.

Some people are fearful that an intense Worldwide depression, such as occurred in 1929, is upon us again.

For my own part I do not agree with this pessimistic view. It seems to me there were very good reasons for the temporary recession that has taken place in the United States.

The prices of stocks, shares and commodities, including wheat, are not, I believe, too high; indeed not high enough in my own personal view; and for this simple reason.—The value of money in terms of gold in Great Britain, the United States and Canada, has been inflated since 1914 by 60%.

In many other countries by a greater percentage—but the prices of commodities, stocks, shares and so forth, on the average, have only risen since 1914 by about 25%.

Eventually, it seems to me, the full 60% increase in the prices of all goods, commodities, wages and salaries, must take place, for history tells us that even in the past the prices of all things have increased, at a time, by exactly the same percentage as the money was inflated.

Gasoline Is Reasonably

Cheap; Tax High

The market for petroleum products goes up or down as that for other commodities, being affected by general and local conditions. Most of all, it is affected by supply and demand.
As in the case of other commodities,
if too much goes on the market, prices tend to fall; if too little, prices go up.
As a result of abundance and increasing operating efficiency, on top of the lowest kind of competition, gasoline prices have declined in an almost unbroken curve to such less than they were in 1928.

It is true that gasoline is cheap, and only the tax is high.
A recent comparison of average monthly wages paid to an efficient T. S. railway of fair size in 1929, with those paid in 1937, expressed in terms of gasoline purchasing power (not including the tax), shows that the railway worker could buy in 1929 slightly over two gallons of gasoline for every dollar's wage; while in 1937, he is able to buy about 65 gallons of gasoline with his hour's wage.
This ratio is said to prevail in approximately three quarters of the refining capacity of the country. The incident is at least an illustration of the distribution of wealth by the industry, and the trend of wages paid by it in comparison with the price charged for its principal product.

CONFERENCE OVER

TRUCK OPERATORS

Banking as of first importance to Alberta motorists was a conference of representatives of the four western provinces, held at Regina recently, when means of securing uniformity in regulations concerning trucks were discussed, along with related subjects.

As a result of this conference,
it is expected that recommendations as to certain changes with a view to bringing about uniformity will be re-mitted to the respective provincial governments.

The question of inter-provincial licensing of trucks was discussed, one object being to arrive at a uniform system.
Some provinces now license trucks, others do not. Lights on freight vehicles and use of flares also were discussed at the conference.

Operations and regulations governing trucks have been discussed at different times by the Alberta Motor Association which, among other things, has urged the need of truck companies stressing the need of their drivers being courteous and to give full regard to safe driving.
With the adoption of uniform regulations across the west, it is also believed that a new factor contributing to less accidents on the highways will be introduced.

An R. Commissioner of Customs has announced that reports from the collectors of customs show total importations from Canada of 4,588,968 pounds, or 747,310 bales, of white or Irish certified seed potatoes during the period from December 1, 1936, to November 27, 1937, under the quota provisions of the Canada-U. S. trade agreement. This represents 90.4 per cent of the total allowable until the end of the twelve months ended November 30, 1937.

Conservation In Agriculture

With the powers of Old Sol waxing stronger day by day thoughts are turning towards the advent of another spring when tillers of the soil, operating on large or small scale, will again commit the seeds of cereals, vegetables and grasses to the care of Mother Earth in the hope that a beneficent Providence will aid individual effort to produce bountifully in the harvest season.

The wise farmer and gardener, whether he be located in what has become known as the drought area of the prairie provinces or in sections where Nature has been more kindly in recent years, will already have spent many anxious hours in planning out his work for the approaching season, deciding what he will plant, where he will plant, how much he will plant, what cultivation policies he will pursue and what methods he will adopt to make the most of soil and available moisture.

Even with the most careful planning he recognizes that defeat may await him in the hot summer months as a result of conditions over which he has comparatively little control or none at all, but he should also recognize that intelligent and well-planned efforts may at least do something to mitigate disaster to some extent, if disaster is impending.

Consider New Methods

In those areas which have in recent years been subjected to the lightning influences of soil drifting or which have experienced short crops or none at all because of lack of moisture, or both, much thought has, no doubt, already been devoted by the majority of farmers and gardeners to such insurance, or partial insurance, methods as strip farming, regrassing of lands, rotation of crops, the planting of trees and hedges for windbreaks and as moisture retainers and the use of comparatively new types of implements designed to catch and hold moisture. Methods under advancement will also include construction of small dams and minor irrigation projects where the presence of flowing water and the contour of the land make such schemes a feasibility.

No one of these methods can be labelled as "sure fire" insurance policy for any and every district or even for any individual farm. Local conditions and contingencies have to be considered before the best system can be determined and this means that each farmer must be his own arbiter, though it must be conceded that, in some cases at least, a conservation measure suitable to an individual farm may also be of value to a large tract district in which it is located.

Value Of Shelter Belts

Doubtless much thought has been given by many agriculturists to the question of the value of shelter belts formed by trees or hedges, or both, as aid to both soil and moisture conservation, not only for the home garden but also for the grain field and particularly in the wind-swept reaches of the open prairie. That more and more farmers are being impressed with the value of trees and hedges as a conservation agency is demonstrated by substantial increases in attendance at the lecture car of the Canadian Forestry Association on its annual tour through the western provinces and an annual increase in the number of inquiries received by officials of the Association and officials of the Western Canadian forestry stations. The increased interest has been especially marked during the depression era.

While the extent to which trees and shrubs can be depended upon as an aid to agriculture and horticulture in this country in years of drought is always a controversial topic, nevertheless, the Canadian Forestry Association has an impressive array of evidence in the January issue of Forest and Outdoors, its official organ, in support of its contention that every farmer in the southern areas of the prairie provinces can ensure a supply of food for his family by planting and maintaining shelter belts. The evidence is presented in the form of the printed word of authorities and practical anatomy, supported by illustrations showing well tended gardens and good garden crops on isolated farms in the dry districts in years of drought, all of them protected by shelter belts.

Recorded As Striking Proof

Alan Beaven, in charge of the lecture car, writing of the 1937 itinerary in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, is quoted as saying:

"Every district we visited furnished striking proof of the possibility of the southern farmer becoming self-sustaining, as far as home food supplies are concerned."

"Had the farm garden been a universal policy, instead of being completely overlooked, or at best, in most cases, a haphazard venture, countless millions in food costs, during the past nine years, could have been avoided. Every farmer can grow his own needs anywhere throughout the south country, and no objective short of this is good enough, and nothing but most earnest educational progress can save it."

"For eight years in Saskatchewan, crops followed the boundary lines of the native trees. Wherever trees grew wild, binders were busy in the fall. Had this extended down the park belt on the plains to almost the international boundary. With a knowledge of the fact that rainfall in the west do not increase as you go north (southern Saskatchewan from 1900 to 1930 enjoyed an equal rainfall with the northern part of the Province) and with the experience that when we clear large areas of the north, making them physically open plains like the south, we get the southern climatic condition of high winds, rapid evaporation, and soil drift, it has been thoroughly proved that retention of natural forest and the establishing of tree belts are two of the primary needs of prairie farming."

In the light of the testimony presented by Mr. Beaven and a number of farmers in Forest and Outdoors, farmers cannot afford not to at least consider the advisability of planting shelter belts for the home garden, if not the entire farm.

FLIN FLON

"The Story of Its Finding and Position To-Day"

By FRATT RUHN

Those engaging in various sports such as golf, tennis, curling, skating, etc., are required to join these various organizations for which a fee sufficient to cover approximate operating cost is charged. A non-member of the Community Club is required to pay a regular garage or admittance fee at a higher rate than a member.

All sorts of things happen at the Community Club, all sorts of activities and everybody around seems happy and neighborly.

The Apprentice System

Before going further in social activities let me say that the apprentice system as worked out here at Flin Flon fascinated me.

It is mostly limited to sons and brothers of present employees who are taken in any department they wish for a four-year period, and at the end of that time, as well as being fairly well and having two weeks vacation a year a bonus of $100.00 is paid to those who have applied themselves to training.

The age limit at commencement is 16 to 18 years in the departments except the smelter where it is 17 to 18.

I studied the various employments that would receive apprentices in the Flin Flon school. Here are they:

M.I.—concentrator

Zinc plant
Smelter
Electrical
Carpenter
Blacksmith
Steam Fitter and Puffer
Machinist
Boiler Maker
Electrician
Tin and Coppermith

—and remember when these boys graduate in four years they naturally stand the best chance of any regular job at the mine, while many while they have been paid at 2¢ to 3¢ an hour.

Too bad this wonderful system could not be more widely practiced. Here it absorbs about 27 boys a year so that at any time there will be 50 to 60 studying. I wish I had that chance as a boy myself. My employers didn't want me to learn any more than so much when I was working manually.

There's a regular course of reading, lectures, examination, practical work, and a good boy can support himself and leave, if he desires, with a trade. That's practical. Christianity even though the background thought may be of mine to the employee father whose growing son worries him because of lack of employment.

I'd like to get a boy of mine into the Flin Flon mine each term, but they all grow up on me before such an opportunity offers.

Just Where Is Flin Flon?

We have talked glibly of Winnipeg, The Pas, Flin Flon, etc., but to a great many of our readers this is so much Greek.

Well, here's a little map I drew to give you details and distances, also to show location of the power plant on the Churchill river and the new work being done this summer up at Hudson Bay. To conserve the flowing down the Churchill to the turbines at Island Falls.

The Fire Hazard

Loss By Fire Contributes To The Heavy Cost Of Living

There is urgent need for more education with regard to fire hazards. Only a small percentage of the population appears to have given this subject adequate thought or to have acquainted themselves with the ever-present danger of any careless action in regard to fire, notwithstanding the fact that loss by fire is one of the heaviest contributors to the cost of living.

If it could be brought home to all individuals that any carelessness on their part in the disposal of burning matches, or smoking material might cause a loss in which they would bear the burden directly, there might be more inclination to regard fire hazards seriously. As it is, however, we and the majority of people are living no thought at all to this subject, and as a result we continue to incur vast losses every year.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Famous Airman

War-Time Aviator Has Right Eye

W. R. "Wop" May, noted Canadian flyer, was back at his job with Canadian Airways after recovering from an operation which removed his right eye. The war-time aviator suffered infection in the eye and had it removed.

May, superintendent of Canadian Airways, Mackenzie division, suffered injury to the eye about 10 years ago when a silver of steel pierced it. Lately infection set in and threatened with loss of his sight. May decided to have the eye removed.

Affairs officials said it would not affect his work. They explained May has not been really active as a pilot since becoming superintendent of the Mackenzie division two years ago and the operation will in no way hinder him in his present position.

Water Conservation

Prairie Drought In Saskatchewan

To Be Basted

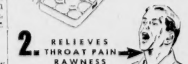

Prairie drought will be beaten to the extent in which it is found possible to conserve the water run-off in summer and winter. Hon. George Spence, minister of public works for Saskatchewan, said in an address to the Canadian Club at Toronto.

"We must conserve every drop of rain and snow water wherever it is feasible," he said. "The most important irrigation projects in southern Saskatchewan are not large-scale undertakings. On the other hand there are thousands of small projects scattered here, there and everywhere."

"There are literally thousands of sites where the water rights branch which, when constructed and utilized by the individual farm-owners, will change the face of the landscape."

LOOKS LIKE A GOOD PROPOSITION

In a certain state in the U S A the state Insurance Companies are planning on a 10% rebate on all auto accident Insurance at the end of the year providing however that the owner of such insurance has not had any accidents during the year such insurance was in force.

Our provincial government should take up this plan and give a discount to all auto license holders at the end of the year providing the owner of each license could prove that during the year his license was in force, he did not have any car accidents of any description.

This plan has many good features, the major one would be the big decrease in auto accident costs, and considerable savings in proving what a little common sense can do behind the wheel.

FOREIGN CANDY WORTH $838,917 IS IMPORTED AND SOLD IN CANADA

Canada's Juliets have a very "sweet tooth" if the consumption of candy in Canada is any criterion and their home apparently take pains to satisfy the craving for, in the twelve months ending October 1937, in imported confectionery alone, the substantial total of $838,917 was spent.

The children, whose passion for candy is stronger than their interest in homework, for example, are also generous buyers of the toothsome morsels which come from abroad, and, according to the National Producers in Canada Association, in a statement released today, the Romans and the children could, with their parents, do their own country a service by showing more preference for candies which are produced in Canada.

"Canadian made and women are employed in the confectionery just the same as they are in producing other goods, and when we spend more than three-quarters of a million dollars on candy alone, in foreign countries, it means that there is a lower demand for the confectionery that is produced in the Dominion. Automatically, with a lower demand, there is less call for the services of our own people. And it is the fathers and mothers who eventually are affected by the spending habits of their children or their sons who are very much concerned with future plans for marriage and the noble experiment in which two try to live as cheaply as one."

CARMANGAY

Thanks are due Sandy Fraser for a donation of books to the library.

The skating rink has been enjoyed very much this winter. Quite a few hockey teams from neighboring towns have visited and had some good games.

A chiveree was held recently at the Oiler home for Mr. and Mrs. Cuthforth that concluded with a dance at Prairieville school, about sixty were present.

In Calgary on January 15th, Phyllis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henson of Havelock, was united in marriage to Reg. Howds of Carmangay.

The funeral of Mrs. Kain Clanson, who died at her home in Calgary, was held on Sunday. The deceased was 82 years of age and is survived by her husband and two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cuthforth, nee Irene Oiler, have returned from Victoria, B. C., and other coast cities, where they spent their honeymoon. They will reside on the Cuthforth farm near Barons.

Honoring Charles and Edward Stettner on their birthdays, last Friday evening, a jolly party was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lecko. Eight tables of Norwegian whist were at play, first prize being won by Carl Stettner and Frank Hauser, with second to Frank Lecko and John Hauser.

The Halvor Howds home was the scene of a gay party on Saturday night, when about fifty friends and neighbors gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Hegland and express their good wishes for their future happiness. Cards were played, and a delicious lunch was served at midnight.

Mrs. Oscar Long was hostess of a miscellaneous shower at her home on Thursday, January 27th, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Cuthforth, who have just recently returned from their honeymoon. Amid games and contests, songs were sung by little Irene Long and Ray Flitton. The young bride thanked the donors for the splendid gifts.

The Annual Meeting of the Ratepayers was held in the town office last Friday evening, with the mayor, James Davey Sr., presiding. The Auditor's financial statement was read and showed the Village finances to be satisfactory and that the council had been able to make a creditable showing in spite of conditions.

The financial statement of the Community hall was presented at the Annual Meeting on Wednesday night, showing a surplus of $143.00, despite the record activity on the part of the board this year, due to the community effort to put the hospital in a good position.

Walter Neilson and A. F. Wilson are the new directors, appointed with H. S. Parker who was nominated to fill out the term of B. D. Hummon.

Repair plans for the hall were considered as part of this year's program of improvement.

Railroader-Actor

Roy Emerson (above), English actor who played Noddy, the railway contractor, in the Gaumont British epic of Canadian Pacific Railway construction through the Rockies, "Silent Barriers", found himself right at home in the part when he went to the C. P. R. mountain division on location. The division was by no means new to Emerson who with his brother Percy served the railway there in 1912. Roy, the actor, as a former co-"pusher" engine, and Percy as a round-house hostler at Revelstoke where much of the film's local color was filmed. Roy Emerson was a popular figure during the filming of the Canadian railway epic among the railroaders, many of them former associates.

A.—Nearly 6,500,000.

Q.—How many policyholders are there in Alberta?

A.—Over 100,000—a policyholder in every other family.

Q.—And the total number of policies?

A.—Over 224,000.

Q.—What benefits do policyholders in Alberta receive from their Life Insurance?

A.—They have the protection of insurance amounting to more than $313,000,000—and, in one year alone (1936), policyholders and beneficiaries in Alberta received from Life Insurance savings over $8,600,000 in cash.
